British Advance Near Combles-French Gain at Guillemont

TEUTONS IN THIAUMONT

High Points in War Situation at Glance

First. West front-Germans retake Thiaumont work on Verdun front. Anglo-French gain ground in loint attack on Guillemont, on the Somme line.

Second. East front — Russians sound Austro-German center in con-dauous attacks against the army of Jeneral von Bothmer south of Brody. The Slavs are only 12 miles from the Tarnopol-Lemberg railway. Von Hindenburg pushes counter-of-fensive against Russians on Stokhod ine, but fails to check Slav drive. Russians repulse Austro-Hungarian attacks in Carpathians.

Third. Italian front—The entire bank of the Isonzo has been virtually cleared of Austian troops. The Teutons are said to be preparing to evacuate Gorizia.

Teuton armies are battling desperately on both the west and east fronts to wrest the initiative once more from the Allies. Today's dispatches indicate that, for the most part, the latter are not only maintaining their ground, but are pushing forward and gaining new positions. The only success reported for the Germans is contained in the admission by the Paris War Office that the Germans have retaken Fort Thisumont, on the Verdun front, where fighting is continuing with the old fury. On the Somme front, the Anglo-

French troops, acting jointly, have made progress in an assault on Guillemont. The French and British advanced east of Hill 139 and north of the village of Hardecourt. German attacks on Monacu Farm, along the beaten back.

Russian troops, under General Sakharoff, are pressing forward in their drive on Lemberg. The Russians are now only 12 miles from the Tarnopol-Lemberg Railway and have once more ut General von Bothmer's Austro-German army south of Brody in a position of great peril. Desperate attempts are being made by Field Marshal von Hindenburg to halt the Russian forces on the Stokhod line. Thus far, according to Petrograd, the lion of the German army has failed to inflict any serious blows upon General Brussiloff's forces, who are pushing their attacks along the Sereth.

The advance of the Slav army under General Leschitsky in Bukowina is increasing in impetus and momentum. General Leschitsky has routed the Austrians under Archduke -Karl, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, southwest of the Kolomea-Stanislau Railway. Russian forces have also occupied the town of Tlumacz, southwest of Stanislau.

The entire bank of the Isonzo, the most important sector of the Austro-Italian front, has been cleared of Austrian troops. Preparations are reported under way by the Austrians for the evacuation of Gorizia, the great Trentino stronghold barring the way to CHICAGO, Aug. 8. - Charles Evans Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, arrived in Chicago this morning for a 14hour stay that was to include a public reception and a speech tonight in the Coliseum. The Hughes party arrived over the Michigan Central from Detroit on a special train.

Elaborate preparations had been made for receiving him at the Illinois Central station and the streets about it were filled with crowds anxious to see the Republican standard bearer. As he emerged from the station, Mr. Hughes was greeted with a cheer from the assembled crowd and his way to the Blackstone Hotel was lined with cheering throngs.

Mr. Hughes, after breakfast at the hotel with Mrs. Hughes, went to the Conway Building, where Republican headquarters has been established. The public reception was held in the rotunda of the hotel at noon. This afternoon Mr. Hughes is being taken about the city by the Reception Committee. After the Collseum speech tonight the candidate will leave, for St. Paul.

Mr. Hughes in the first set speech of his transcontinental trip at Detroit last night assailed the Administration vigorously for its foreign policy, its Mexican policy, for appointing men whom he terms inexperienced to diplomatic posts and for what he characterizes as "a raid upon the civil service of the United States." "He kept us out of war," Mr. Hughes said, referring to the President and a Democratic campaign slogan. "Yet we seized Vera Crus. That was war-very ignoble war. And it was called war over the bodies of those dead soldiers; it was called a war

A. Cotti, 10 months old, of 309 Collom street, died at noon today from infantile paralysis. His is the twentyfifth death since the outbreak of the epidemic

Coincident with the prescribing and observance of a rigid quarantine at all railroad and ferry stations and highway approaches to the city, Philadelphia today passed the 100th mark in the number of infantile paralysis cases reported since January 1. The 190th case was that of Benjamin Loeb, 3 years old, of 546 Pike street, which is located in the Forty-third Ward. The 101st case is that of A. Cottl. 31/2 years old, of 309 Collom street. More than 1000 inspectors are at work in an effort to keep from the State children coming from New York, New Jersey, Delaware or Maryland.

So effective has this quarantine become that more than 200 Camden schoolboys who work during the summer months in this city were turned back to New Jersey this morning after they had come to the Philadelphia side of the river, the guards having discovered that these had no health certificates showing them free of infantile paralysis germs.

The vigilance of the inspectors has been increased because of the 5 deaths and 15 new cases reported here in the last 24 hours. Thus far today no deaths have occurred. A woman of 41 years, Mrs. Debra Clark, of 3439 Kipp street, is one of the last victims of the disease, and her case is puzzling physicians of the city. Chief Medical Inspector Cairns declaring that he had never before heard of the disease attacking any one of that comparatively advanced age. Mrs. Clark's affliction presents another phase of the quarantine, inasmuch as now only children under 16 years of age are being barred from the city, whereas this instance shows again that persons above that age not only can carry the germs, but can fall victims to them.

In an effort to meet the requirements prescribed by the Philadelphia quarantine. the Camden Board of Health remained in session until midnight, and issued approximately 1000 certificates. The boys turned back this morning went to the Board of Trade rooms, searching for Dr. J. F. Leavitt, who was called upon to issue papers necessary to their admittance to Philadelphia.

The quarantine has angered these boys, nasmuch as when turned back they had to pay 3 cents additional for their transportation to Camden.

CHILDREN IN TEARS.

Hundreds of children tearfully pleaded with inspectors stationed at the ferry houses on the Philadelphia side of the Delaware River at Market, Chestnut, Vine and South streets.

Many of the youngsters apparently were not aware that a quarantine was in force. They did not know what to make of the eagle-eyed inspectors who, stationed on each side of the ferry houses, had spotted them on board inbound boats almost before the gangplank had been thrown down.

As each boat entered the slip a row of six or more inspectors advanced toward the vanguard of passengers who rushed to disembark. Keenly they watched the children. Those who looked as though they might be more than sixteen years old were permitted to pass without question. Others were stopped and detained.

"How old are you?" asked an imspector of the suspect. Frequently the child gazed at the man with frightened eyes. She did not know what he meant. Perhaps he was a kidnapper. The youngster struggled to get free, but the inspector held on:

Finally the situation was explained and if the youthful ferryboat passenger was below the necessary age he or she was sent back to the Jersey side and forbidden to cross into Pennsylvania until the necessary physician's certificate of good health was
